Year 5 Home Learning Project

A Victorian Who's Who

Charles Dickens

Lewis Carrol

Sir Robert Peel

Alexander Graham Bell

Florence Nightingale

Britain was a very different place when Queen Victoria was on the throne. Lots of changes happened during this period and many people became famous for the things they did which can still be seen in our lives today. Some invented new products, some helped to improve the life of others, and some wrote books which are still read and enjoyed today.

Find out about a famous Victorian – their life and how they influenced our lives today.

Choose a way to tell others about what you have found out. You could design a poster, write a leaflet, create a book, make a model of something they invented or choose your own way to tell the rest of the class about your famous Victorian.

Bring your home learning project to school in the week beginning Monday 3rd June.
